How To Solve SAMPLE PUZZLE

You will see there are a SINK, a DIAL, the SOLE of a shoe and various letters of the alphabet. There are two plus and two minus signs. It is necessary to add and subtract the names and letters as shown by the plus and minus signs. First, write down SINK. Then, add DIAL to it. Next, add ONEA. All this equals SINKDIALONEA. Now, you must subtract the letters in SOLE and K. When this is done you are left with INDIANA. Indiana is the Hoosier State, so the result checks with Clue No. 1.

MASK OF HEARTS

BERT GRIFFITHS heard the closing bell ring at Math and sighed. He hadn't seen Penny Kabel in half an hour, not since West European History in fact, and there was an aching void somewhere around his heart that he attributed to love.

Two beautiful blondes, a brunette and an even prettier carrot-top, got up from their desks and walked past him. Bert, who, before he had met Penny, would have looked at all four, failed to see them at all. In the back of his mind's eye was a picture of Penny, three-dimensional and in technicolor. He sighed again, rose, bumped into the door jamb as he left the Math room, absently murmured "Pardon me" and continued on out to the door that let out on the campus. Penny would no doubt, be waiting on the steps. And he wanted to talk to her about the masquerade ball the seniors were throwing that night in the auditorium.

He came out on the steps, cast an anxious look around — and froze.

Penny was outside the building, all right. But she wasn't on the steps and she wasn't waiting for Bert. She stood about a hundred feet away under a linden tree in deep converse with Rode Standish, the campus idol.

Bert's heart did two flipflops; his self-esteem withered like a blade of grass in a December gale. This wasn't the first time he'd seen them talking together. The first time had been yesterday morning, between classes. At the time Bert had made a masterly attempt to fling jealousy from his heart and had succeeded. Rode Standish had fluttered most of the hearts on the campus before.

Bert made another masterly attempt — and failed. He wilted, but set his jaw and decided he would give Penny a chance to explain. Just one chance. He knew what it meant when Rode fixed his eye on a girl.

Under the tree Penny and Rode talked on. Finally, both smiled at each other, nodded, and then Rode walked off with an affectionate wave of the hand.

"Penny!"

Penny glanced up as she heard Bert call out. Then she came running.

"Oh, darling, I'm sorry I couldn't . . ." Penny began, and stopped, seeing the icicles in Bert's eyes.

"Talking to Rode Standish, eh?" he interrupted.

"Well!" Penny tossed her head. "I suppose I can talk to anyone I please!"

"Not to Rode," Bert said darkly. "Whatever he has, there isn't a girl who can resist it!" He narrowed his eyes. "And what were you talking about?"

"I'm sorry," Penny said. "But I can't tell you!"

Bert put a hand tragically on his heart.

"I knew it," he moaned. "I go and fall in love with the prettiest girl in school and that matinee idol has to go and . . ."

"Bert!" Penny stamped her foot. "You stop this nonsense!"

He took her hand and shook it limply.

"Goodbye, Penny," he said tragically. "When you start keeping secrets from the man you said you loved, well . . ." He heaved a sigh dramatically, hoping that his eyes looked appropriately haunted and lonely, and turned away.

"Bert!" Again Penny stamped her foot. "I never heard of anything so . . ." She paused for breath, gasping. "Bertram, you come . . . !"

He plodded on, his steps dragging by design until he'd turned the corner of the building, then flattened himself against the wall and peeped round the corner. His eyes went wide. Penny's best friend, Jeannie Calvin had walked up to Penny. Both girls were talking animatedly and Jeannie suddenly smiled. Then both girls hugged each other.

"So that's it," he muttered. Obviously Penny had told Jeannie that she was Rode's new girl and Jeannie was congratulating her.

He screwed up his face in puzzlement. If that was it, of course . . .

But was it?

He stood there deep in thought. Then, slowly a look of intense concentration came over his face, followed by a conspiratorial grimace.

There was always the masquerade party, he was thinking. He knew what Penny was going to wear—a medieval court dress. He also knew, because it had been widely advertised by Rode, that Rode was going to wear a Punchinello's costume. And just as it happened, Bert hadn't decided what he was going to wear.

There was only one thing to do. Dress as a Punchinello. That way, and arriving early, he

Skinny Girls Don't Have OOMPH!

It takes those extra lbs. of solid flesh to "bring out" your natural curves

If you're otherwise healthy but skinny, scrawny, rundown and lbs. underweight, try correcting this common mistake in eating.

THERE are three essential substances that many thin, scrawny and undernourished girls may fail to get in sufficient quantity from the food they eat. These substances are Vitamin $B_1$, calcium phosphate and iron. If, like thousands of others, you are underweight without organic cause . . . never seem to gain a pound . . . are so thin that you look gangling and gawky from insufficient amounts of these precious elements, don't get discouraged.

You may find that by correcting this simple mistake in eating you can easily add firm solid flesh . . . extra alluring pounds that help bring out those natural eye-catching curves. A simple and easy way is to try the amazing new product called Numal that supplies, in significant amounts, the Vitamin $B_1$, calcium phosphate and iron needed in the daily diet. Plus a food that in itself is a great help in adding extra pounds.

Take 1 heaping teaspoonful of Numal 3 times a day. It is pleasant, assimilable and easy to take. You will get the equivalent in Vitamin $B_1$ content of 34 cakes of average moist baker's yeast . . . the iron equivalent of 15 pounds of tomatoes or 1⅔ pounds of spinach or 9 pounds of boiled beets...and the calcium equivalent of ⅘ths pint of fresh cow's milk, the phosphorus content of 1 glass.

Remember, if you don't get a sufficient quantity of Vitamin $B_1$ in your daily diet, you may suffer loss of appetite. And without sufficient iron, the element that helps build rich red blood, you may be rundown, pale, weak and listless. You need calcium phosphate for sound teeth and sturdy bones.

SKINNY MEN ARE NOT ATTRACTIVE EITHER

. . . a skinny, scrawny body is no asset in social or business life. Give NUMAL a chance to build you up, put firm flesh on you.

Numal Must Please You or No Cost

So if you are skinny, gangling and bony from lack of these precious nutrients, don't wait any longer. Get Numal today. You will want those extra pounds that "bring out" your natural eye-catching curves. Take Numal faithfully for a week. See if you can't actually feel the difference . . . gain weight and better color. If after this short period you honestly don't feel Numal has benefited you, just return the bottle for a complete refund of your money. Numal costs but a few cents a day to use.

If loss of weight persists see your doctor could get to Penny. Masked, Penny wouldn't know him. And he could test Penny's love, by simply pretending to be Rode Standish for awhile. They were both the same height, about the same build; he knew the folds of the costume would cover any real discrepancies, as would the mask.

Bert sighed tragically.

The mask, he also knew, when uncovered, would reveal not Rode's handsome visage, but his own homely features. He would have to get away early.

An hour later he was at the costumers, hiring a Punchinello costume. He carried it home carefully wrapped.

At precisely eight o'clock he arrived at the auditorium in his old hot-rod. The place was brightly lit and about half-full. Slipping inside masked, he met a scene of splendid magnificence, color and sparkle. Ken Rennard's band, hired from a downtown restaurant for the evening, was playing a sedate waltz as he arrived. There wasn't much else they could play, as most of the costumes were heavy and complicated.

He glanced round furtively for the other Punchinello costume, but failed to see it.

Then he spotted Penny.

She was resplendant in a long, trailing gown and wore a wimple hat and he could see her face pretty well, because she was wearing an ordinary domino mask. He chuckled, knowing she couldn't possibly recognize him—not with a mask that covered his whole face, his ears and his chin and with a cap that came down to his eyebrows.

He essayed an exaggerated bow after sweeping up to her as she stood alone by an open door leading to a part of the campus.

"Ah, Mademoiselle!" he wheezed grandly, in a voice appropriate to Punchinello, congratulating himself on having found a method to keep from using his own. "Tonight, you are — gorgeous! It is I — Rode Standish the Punchinello, who says so!"

"Rode—oh!" she began, startled and looked at him. Then she smiled sweetly. "How are you?"

"In perfect health," he said, bowing again. He looked up at her eyes. His blood froze. They were looking at him with the greatest of fondness, and so far as she knew, he was Rode Standish! He heard his heart crack and sighed.

The music stopped and began again, a haunting, slow waltz.

He took her hand, kissed it. The idea was to eventually suggest retirement to the grassy, tree-shrouded campus where he could put her loyalty to him to the test.

"Shall we dance, fair lady," he suggested.

Her eyes danced, though her body remained just where it was.

"Dance?" she echoed. "Oh, Rode, how can you suggest dancing, when—when there's a moon outside tonight?"

"T-T-There is?" he stammered, horrified. Apparently she couldn't wait for Rode to hold her hand and . . .

She took his hand, drew him toward the door. They went out into the cool, scented evening, toward a clump of trees.

Overhead an immense, romance moon marked "Romance" sailed the silvery night skies.

"Rode—don't be so distant!" She said, annoyed, as he tried to draw away.

"D-D-Distant?" he chattered. "I'm not . . ."

"Rode, aren't you going to kiss me?" Penny asked coyly.

"K-K-K-Kiss you?" Bert's knees turned to rubber; he kept himself up only with an effort. So it was true. His heart cracked again. He knew it would never mend itself. Betrayed! And at such an early age!

To his horror she took his face in her hands, lifted the mask. He knew she could see nothing out in the dark, under the tree. Then she kissed him.

Half-a-minute later, Bert opened his eyes. For half-a-minute he'd been in heaven. The unpleasant present returned. He stiffened, rose to his full height on wobbly legs.

"Penny," he began, "I cannot deceive you any longer!"

"You can't?" she asked. "Oh, dear, why not?"

"Penny," he continued firmly, "I am not Rode Standish. I . . ."

"In point of fact you're Bert Griffiths!" Penny said, laughing.

"S-S-So I am," he said. Then he started: "I am?" Bert looked at her wildly. "But how did you know? You must have thought I was Rode!"

"I knew you weren't Rode when you said you were!" Penny chuckled. "Rode couldn't come tonight, because he developed a cold. I knew he had a cold because he phoned me, and he phoned me because he wanted to find out if I'd told Jeannie Calvin that he loves her. Actually, Rode Standish is in love with her and so shy that he had to ask me to tell her. But I had to keep it a secret because I didn't want to let it out until Jeannie said she loved Rode—which she does. That's why I didn't tell you. Besides . . ." Penny hooked Bert's arm in hers and began walking toward a darker, bigger tree. "I knew it was you anyway, particularly when you kissed me." She gazed at Bert fondly. "Every time you kiss me, darling, your knees shake!"

We know we could not make this offer unless the SEBASOL complete treatment is all we say it is.

You want the clearest, smoothest and healthiest skin. That is your birthright. Study our guarantee. We take all the risk. You have the protection of DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Sebasol Method Supported By Diverse Medical Opinions

Leading medical authorities differ on the importance of various contributing factors to externally caused acne and pimples.

These factors are: diet, vitamin deficiency, personal hygiene, occupational exposures and postural habits.

The Sebasol method recognizes the importance of all these contributing factors and each of them is an integral part of the Sebasol treatment.

The Sebasol method is not designed to relieve all skin disturbances, and is not prescribed to treat individual cases due to systemic causes. But, to our knowledge, the Sebasol method is the only complete treatment of its type offered to sufferers of common skin maladies. Until new facts are discovered, there is nothing known to science which can do more for the relief of bad skin.

ACT NOW BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE!

Neglect of acne can result in permanent scarring of your skin so act now! Take the first step—now—toward the good skin you desire. Fill out the coupon and mail—today—for a full 30-day supply. Price $3.00, only 10¢ a day. Isn't your skin worth the best?
